University League Presentation
by Tanya Zastrow
“Olbrich Botanical Gardens: Past, Present, and Future”
at its Fall Coffee.

When: Wednesday, September 14, 2022, 10:00 a.m.
Where: Maple Bluff Country Club. 500 Kensington Drive. Madison, WI
Cost: Luncheon and Lectured is $20. Registration is required.

Director Tanya Zastrow will speak about the Gardens’ origins in the early 1950’s, its evolution and expansion over the decades into the place of beauty, serenity, and learning that it is today, and her vision for its future. Zastrow will describe the wide variety of Midwestern hardy plants, a Rose Garden, the Thai Pavilion and Garden, and specialty gardens such as the Perennial Garden, the Sunken Garden, the Herb Garden, the Rain Garden, and more.

Tanya Zastrow has worked in public gardens for 18 years, the last 7 years as the Director of Programs at Lady Bird Johnson Wildflower Center at the University of Texas Austin. Zastrow was nominated by her staff and received the University of Texas Austin 2021 Outstanding Supervisor Award.
